

You are welcome here today:

In all the beauty of languages, cultures, and skin tones that come together in your uniqueness,
you are welcome here.

In all the ways you express gender,
you are welcome here.

In the beauty that is who you love and how you love,
you are welcome here.

In all the ways you make your living, and places you are from, you are welcome here.

No matter how long you've been away, nor how soon you will return,
you are welcome here.

Whether you come with laughter in your heart or tears,
you are welcome here.

You are invited to join us with an open mind, a loving heart and willing hands.

You are welcome here today.